Current trends in incubation and seeding arrangements

Seeding and incubation have become far more commonplace recently in response to the ever increasing costs associated with starting an asset management firm, on the one hand, and the possibility of making better than ordinary hedge fund returns, on the other. Consequently, the universe of managers seeking seed capital, and capital providers making capital, is much larger than ever before, and the number of transactions is at an historic peak. In this session, panellists will explore the various types of seed and incubation transactions that are currently undertaken in the marketplace, the commercial and legal points of sensitivity, and contention, for both seeders and capital providers, and the regulatory and tax considerations to be taken into account when engaging in a seed deal.

Permanent capital/evergreen vehicles

Following the lead of some of the largest and best known global money managers, private fund managers of virtually all types and sizes (in terms of assets under management) are increasingly considering establishing permanent capital or evergreen investment vehicles. Regulators are asking whether these vehicles are sufficiently liquid to be appropriate for retail investors, whether these vehicles are valuing the instruments they hold in accordance with applicable rules and regulations, and whether these vehicles are described accurately, fully and clearly in disclosure and marketing documents provided to investors. This panel will focus on the variety of permanent capital and evergreen investment vehicles, their investment objectives and strategies, and their potential strengths and weaknesses from an investor standpoint. The panel will also consider the various regulatory concerns that have been raised recently regarding vehicles.

International Bar Association

the global voice of the legal profession

The International Bar Association (IBA), established in 1947, is the world's leading organisation of international legal practitioners, bar associations and law societies. The IBA influences the development of international law reform and shapes the future of the legal profession throughout the world. It has a membership of more than 55,000 individual legal professionals and 206 bar associations and law societies spanning all continents and has considerable expertise in providing assistance to the global legal community.

Grouped into two divisions – the Legal Practice Division and the Public and Professional Interest Division – the IBA covers all practice areas and professional interests, providing members with access to leading experts and up-to-date information. Through the various committees of the divisions, the IBA enables an interchange of information and views among its members as to laws, practices and professional responsibilities relating to the practice of law around the globe. Additionally, the IBA's world-class conferences provide unrivalled professional development and network-building opportunities for international legal practitioners, senior business professionals, regulators and government officials.

IBA Investment Funds Committee overview

Fuelled by the global move to defined contribution pensions with much-enhanced investor education and expectations of increased service through cyberspace, a growing breed of lawyers is needed who are familiar with cross-border and globalisation issues.

The Investment Funds Committee provides a convenient forum for its members to consider current developments in the global investment funds industry, including both regulatory and product development. It also produces an annual newsletter for its members.

The committee has also established the Private Investment Funds Subcommittee. The subcommittee focuses on specialised collective investment vehicles such as venture capital, real estate, hedge, leveraged buy-out and commodity funds.

IBA European Regional Forum overview

The European Regional Forum was established in 1989 to provide a focus originally on the work undertaken by the IBA in developing the practice under changing legal systems of lawyers in Eastern and Central Europe. The forum was also intended to act as a channel for IBA communication with the bar associations of these local lawyers.

Since 2004 the forum has been developing and strengthening the existence of the IBA within the whole of Europe by promoting the goals of the IBA to members, non-members and others, disseminating professional know-how, and assisting the committees and other constituencies of the IBA to increase their presence in the different sub-regions of Europe, including parts of North Africa and the Middle East.

The goals of the forum include addressing current and long-term needs of professional organisations and individual members within the geographical reach of the forum, as well as increasing membership and participation in the IBA and integrating them within the organisation. The forum will also facilitate cross-border activity between lawyers and bars in different European countries. The forum has a particular focus on cross-disciplinary activities.

The forum seeks to facilitate relevant networking and information/experience sharing opportunities and encompasses the social and collegial interests of both members and potential members with other regional fora, the Corporate Counsel Forum and the Young Lawyers Committee and all LPD committees in general.

At present the forum has 7,700 members and its numbers continue to increase as it becomes one of the most integrated and dynamic fora of the IBA.
